

Logos Privacy Policy

Last revised: January 2, 2019

This Privacy Policy (the “Privacy Policy” or “Policy”) explains what information Logos News LLC (“Logos”, “We” or “Our”) collects when you use and access our website and our mobile application (the “Services”). It also has information about how we store, use, transfer, and delete that information. Not only do we wish to comply with privacy law, we wish to earn your trust.

Information We Collect & How We Use It

The tracking we do at Logos is to make our product work as well as possible.

In order to give you the best possible experience using Logos, we collect information from your interactions with our mobile application as well as our network. Some of this information, you actively tell us (such as your email address, which we use to track your account or communicate with you). Other information, we collect based on actions you take while using Logos, such as what pages you access and your interactions with our product features (including but not limited to opinion reactions, subscriptions, and bias ratings). This information includes records of those interactions, your Internet Protocol address, information about your device, and referral information.

We use this information to:

- Provide, test, improve, promote and personalize the Services
- Fight spam and other forms of abuse
- Generate aggregate, non-identifying information about how people use the Services

When you create your Logos account and authenticate with a third-party service (like Facebook or Google) we may collect, store, and periodically update information associated with that third-party account, such as your lists of friends or contacts. We will never publish through your third-party account without your permission.

Information Disclosure

Logos won't transfer information about you to third parties for the purpose of providing or facilitating third-party advertising to you. We may share your account information with third parties in some circumstances, including: (1) with your consent; (2) to a service provider or partner who meets our data protection standards; (3) with academic or non-profit researchers, with aggregation, anonymization, or pseudonomization; (4) when we have a good faith belief it is required by law, such as pursuant to a subpoena or other legal process; (5) when we have a good faith belief that doing so will help prevent imminent harm to someone.

If we are going to share your information in response to legal process, we'll give you notice so you can challenge it (for example by seeking court intervention), unless we're prohibited by law or believe doing so may endanger others. We will object to requests for information about users of our Services that we believe are improper.

Data Storage

Logos uses third-party vendors and hosting partners, such as Google, for hardware, software, networking, storage, and related technology we need to run Logos. We maintain two types of logs: server logs and event logs. By using the Services, you authorize Logos to transfer, store, and use your information in the United States and any other country where we operate.

Modifying or Deleting Your Personal Information

If you have a Logos account, you can access or modify your personal information by accessing either “edit profile” or “settings” within our mobile application. You can delete your account by sending us an email to do so at info@logosnews.tech. If you delete your account, your information and content will be unrecoverable after that time. Logos may preserve and maintain copies of your information when required to do so by law.

Data Security

We use encryption (HTTPS/TLS) to protect data transmitted to and from our website. However, no data transmission over the Internet is 100% secure, so we can’t guarantee security. You use the Services at your own risk, and you’re responsible for taking reasonable measures to secure your account.

Business Transfers

If we are involved in a merger, acquisition, bankruptcy, reorganization or sale of assets such that your information would be transferred or become subject to a different privacy policy, we’ll notify you in advance so you can opt out of any such new policy by deleting your account before transfer.

Email from Logos

Sometimes we’ll send you emails about your account, service changes or new policies. You can’t opt out of this type of “transactional” email (unless you delete your account). But, you can opt out of non-administrative emails such as newsletters by sending us a request to do so via info@logosnews.tech.

When you interact with an email sent from Logos (such as opening an email or clicking on a particular link in an email), we may receive information about that interaction. We won’t email you to ask for your password or other account information. If you receive such an email, please send it to us at info@logosnews.tech so we can investigate.

Changes to this Policy

Logos may periodically update this Policy. We’ll notify you about material changes to it via email. The most current version of the policy will always be here.

A Note to Users Outside of the U.S. & the EU

For international users, please note that it may be necessary to transfer your information internationally and, in particular, your information may be transferred to and processed in the United States. For residents of the European Union: the data protection and other laws of other countries outside of the European Union may not be as comprehensive as those of the European Union. Please be assured that we take steps to ensure that your privacy is protected as described in this policy. By using the Services, you agree to have your information transferred to and used in the United States as set forth in this policy.

A Note to California Users

California Do Not Track Notice:

Because there are not yet common, industry accepted “do not track” standards and systems, Our Services do not respond to Do Not Track signals.

California Disclosure Information:

California residents are entitled to receive the following disclosure information under California law:

Under California law, California residents have the right to request in writing from businesses with which they have an established business relationship, (1) a list of the categories of personally identifiable information, such as name, address, date of birth, social security number, email address, and any other types of personally identifiable information that a business has disclosed to third parties (including affiliates that are separate legal entities) during the immediately preceding calendar year for the third parties' direct marketing purposes, and (2) the names and addresses of all such third parties. We will respond to such written requests within 30 days following receipt at the email or mailing address specified below under “Contact Information”. If We receive your request at a different email or mailing address, We will respond within a reasonable period of time, but not to exceed 150 days from the date received. Please note that we are required to respond to each customer only once per calendar year. We comply with state and federal rules of the United States regarding the collection, use and retention of personally identifiable information and data. The recipients of users' personally identifiable data, and more generally these disclosures, may be located in the United States or other jurisdictions that might not provide a level of protection equivalent to the laws in your jurisdiction. If you submit personally identifiable data to us, you consent to the transfer of such personally identifiable data outside your jurisdiction.
